Grant Here

John Vegso and Mickey Vegso, brothers, are tried Wednesday on charges of aggravated assault and battery. The prosecutor is William Grant. The trouble, which later resulted in the alleged assault, occurred at a Belgian club, at Charleroi, where a benefit was being held. This was on February 27, two years ago.
Grant had gone there, though not a member of the club. One of the money making schemes was a device

WILL DETERMINE MURDER DEGREE IN BRUEY CASE

Guilt to Wife Murder to be Admitted by Former Charleroi Man

COMMONWEALTH SEEKS FIRST

Case to be Heard Without Jury And Fight Will be Waged Whether Man
Be Electrocuted or Sent to Prison
For Life

Theophile Bruey of Crosscreek township, formerly of Charleroi, who on October 30, 1916, killed his wife, Mary Bruey, will enter a plea of guilty to a general charge of murder in the county courts. The case will then be heard before the court without a jury, to determine the degree of murder of which the defendant may be guilty. It is understood that the defense will endeavor to show that it was murder in the second degree.
However, the commonwealth will insist on murder in the first degree.

The entering of such a plea is unusual. Judge J. A. McIlvaine, in the number of years he has been on the bench has only had one other such plea. In that case a hearing was held to determine the degree and the court found it was murder in the first degree. The defendant was a man named Cook, and he came from the McDonald section. The defendant was sentenced to be hanged, but afterwards his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment. Cook died after he served about two years.

The killing of Mrs. Bruey, according to the facts as they are stated in the coroner's inquest, was very re-tal. The couple had quarreled and the husband attacked her with a corn cutter. She was cut over the head and on the arms, wounds being inflicted that caused her death within a very short time afterwards. Bruey, it is said, had been guilty of cruel and barbarous treatment prior to the time of the trouble that resulted in murder.

roi and son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Murray. The news came as a surprise to the many friends of the couple who anticipated nothing of the sort. Further details were not furnished.
The couple are expected home today.

REGISTRATION PATRIOTIC

A seemingly small matter, indeed, but a vastly important matter is that of registration for young men of the ages of 21 to 31 on June 5. It will be nothing difficult for men to put down their names and fill out the necessary blanks, but it will be necessary and a patriotic duty.

It is suggested from the national capital that church bells be rung and that bands play during hours of the registration. The idea is a good one. There is the surest evidence of patriotism in the young men of the nation alking up to the places of registration and placing themselves at the call of the president. Their patriotism needs to be recognized.

We speak of the word drafting as though it was an odious term; the same with the word conscription. We do it because we are used to the volunteer system of raising an army and familiar with what drafting meant in the states. There is a difference what is drafting now is not like drafting during the years of the Civil war. Conscription is being adopted simply as the best means of raising the army that Uncle Sam needs at once. The Allies found that the volunteer system was all right as a system but not quite good enough as a really workable system in war times.

Preparing for war is a serious thing. It must be done properly or the nation will suffer. That is what makes registration now a solemn, patriotic duty, and that is why we need to take especial note of the occasion.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

In deploring the vast sums of money that warring nations have to spend and proposing that international disputes should be settled in the courts, one should consider the lawyer's fees.

The allied armies are commanded by middle aged men and the German forces by middle aged men.

It is just as well for Turkey that she was not in this country.

Russia might make its ex-czar a professor of law or a great faunal naturalist or something.

Even in a world war people of every rank take time to inquire anxiously and sympathetically as to the condition of Sarah Bernhardt.

If it were as easy to win a war as it is to report for duty, there would be little comment on the conscription law.

Hurrah for Patrick Henry and his immortal speech.

How do you know you are going to "enjoy" a summer vacation?

Perhaps by the time General Pershing gets in touch with the Kaiser's folk, Germany will be ready to seek another peace.

No. Evangelical graduates were not arranged simply for graduates to receive presents.

Aluminum Pots and Pans.

Stripping aluminum cooking utensils must always be done with a wooden spoon. Since aluminum is soft and scratches easily, strong alkalis are not available to cause any attack and dissolve the metal. Only mild soaps must be used. How, then, can that horrid discoloration be removed? It is very simply done.

Take a piece of rubarb, either fresh or canned, cut it into small pieces and boil the pieces in the discolored kettle until it is clean. The acid of the rubarb will remove the discoloration without in any way injuring the metal. Of course the rubarb used for the purpose must be thrown away afterward. When a vessel has been cleaned in this way it will need a little rubbing up to secure a bright metallic surface.—Popular Science Monthly.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

The following is furnished by the Picked up in Passing column by a friendly circus man who knows and has seen the life:

Forgetting War

Hark to that all-pervading shriek Like spirits from below!
Did old Boreas try to speak Fortississimo?
Are these the hoots Of warlike teuts
Who come to strike a blow?

That wasn't the yell of a ten-inch shell
To fuddle a marble brow;
Twas only the wail of a Singing Snail
"I'm with the circus now."

List to the boom-ta-ra-ra-boom Along our crowded ways
Do bandmen sound the foe-man's doom

In brassy F's and A's?
Is it the call,
"Wake, freemen, all!"
The blaring bugle plays?

It isn't the gay, glad reveille That wakes us to fight the foe;
Tis only the croon of the Blue Baboon
"I'm here with the circus show!"

There is a moan upon the gale As if death flew on wings
Are our Cassandras (mostly male) Out, prophesying things?
Is't in the air,
"Beware! Beware!
A serpent nation stings?"

Bah; Ich ge-bibel! that wasn't a sibyl
To scare the listening town
Twas the cal-li-ope with its good old dope

C me! Hark to the circus clown!
O brothers! Once again let's smile As in more happy years
Let us forget grim war awhile And little devil's tears.
Sing with the band!
This is no lard
Of terror and of tears.

Forget for a day the trumpet's bray! Make madness bow to mirth
And the greatest foe on earth give way
To the greatest show on earth.

In the June Woman's Home Companion Grace Margaret Gould says: "It is the unusual woman who admits to herself that she cannot wear the latest style."

"Of course, I can slick down my hair and strain it back from the forehead to the squeezing point," says the long-faced, high-browed girl who looks as if she had just had an attack of the jaundice!

"Of course, I can wear the new brimless turban with its stick-up ornament," says the woman with a face like a Halloween pumpkin!

And then, when the outrage has been perpetrated, each and all of them look in the glass and see not themselves but the pretty girl at the shop who displayed the style."

PAINLESS JOINTS

The County is Full of Them Since Druggists Commenced to Sell "Neurone Prescription 99"

There is no reason on earth why any one should suffer another day with painful, inflamed, swollen joints or muscles of any kind arising from rheumatism, when you can get a large bottle of "Neurone Prescription 99" for 50c and $1.00 the bottle. Not a moment, mind you, to clog up the pores, but a blood-purifying, soothing and healing internal remedy that takes out all soreness and pains and leaves the muscles feeling fine and comfortable.

You may be so sore and crippled that you can not get around, but take a few weeks' treatment of "Neurone Prescription 99" and you will enjoy entire freedom from rheumatism.

Use "Neurone Prescription 99" for chronic rheumatism, for gout, for the kidneys. Use it when you feel an attack coming on and you will be mighty well pleased with the result. W. F. Hennings the druggist and leading druggists everywhere.

the ring. Some words came up about his skill and those participating, including one of the Vegos, became rather loud. There was some boasting about fighting ability. Finally the management told the men that if they did not cease their quarreling they must go out. That ended the affair for the time being. It appears that later, however, outside the hall, the trouble was renewed and it was then the alleged assault took place. The evidence failed to convict Mickey Vegos. It was shown that John Vegos made the assault. Grant was hit over the head with a piece of plank. He has not yet fully recovered from the wound. John Vegos was convicted. He was given from two to three years in the penitentiary.

Poisoning Chewers

Bordeaux for garden diseases nicotine for the squash bugs, plant lice and other sucking insects, but to get rid of the potato bugs, cabbage worms, cutworms, and other insects which chew up your plants and swallow them you must feed them poison. says today's bulletin from the National Emergency Food Garden Commission, cooperating with this newspaper in urging more food gardens.

One of the best poisons for chewing bugs is arsenate of lead—the powdered form being better than the paste, because it is easier to weigh and handle. Arsenate of lead mixes evenly in water and sticks to plants. Two ounces of powdered arsenate or 4 ounces of arsenate paste mixed with 3 gallons of water makes the spray. By using bordeaux instead of water in this solution you get one of the best combination sprays for both fungus and chewing insects. This spray should be frequently stirred while being sprayed to keep the poison evenly mixed in the solution. It should never be used on cabbage or cauliflower after the heads begin to form.

The old reliable paris green spray is also deadly to insect chewers. Use 1 ounce of paris green, 2 to 4 ounces of lump lime, and 10 gallons of water (not 6 gallons of water if the spray is for potato bugs.) The lime prevents the paris green from injuring foliage. If you substitute bordeaux for the water in this solution you do not need to use lime and you have a splendid combination spray for fungus and chewing insects.

The war has made the price of paris green prohibitive to most gardeners. Arsenate of lead, however, is not unduly expensive, and in many respects it is a better bug poison than paris green.

This country is "stupified with over-confidence" says Senator Lewis and he is right. A little reading of the history of the war of 1812 would help.
